alumnus – the Alumni Network of the University of Stuttgart: Networking, information, dialogue and support

The University of Stuttgart is situated in the center of one of Europe's major high-tech regions. Founded in 1829, the former Technical University has turned into a place for education and research that is popular all over the world. Its excellent status is mirrored on the one hand by two projects which are supported by the Excellence Initiative of the Federal Government – the excellence cluster "Simulation Technology" and the "graduate school Advanced Manufacturing Engineering" – and on the other hand by the university's participation in numerous special fields of research and graduate schools. Building networks between technical and scientific fields of study as well as the humanities and the social sciences is one of the strengths of the University of Stuttgart. The institutes of the University of Stuttgart are subdivided into ten faculties. The University offers bachelor as well as master courses, of which several aim at working abroad and are therefore taught in English. As a university with two campuses – one in the city and the other one in Stuttgart-Vaihingen – which are very conveniently connected by public transport, the University of Stuttgart offers the best study and working conditions.

Every year graduates of the University of Stuttgart start their professional career with an excellent education. According to the principle "technology, knowledge and education for people" the University of Stuttgart prepares its students perfectly well for this step into a job market which is in a state of constant change. In the context of "lifelong learning" there is also a broad range of excellent possibilities for continuing education available to former students after they have graduated from the University of Stuttgart.

Since its foundation in 2002, the Alumni Network of the University of Stuttgart has built up a central network which is directed at graduates, students and University members as well as at partners and sponsors of the University of Stuttgart and links national as well as international members from all disciplines and fields. alumnus is the central equivalent to the numerous alumni clubs and Friends of the Faculties, and it cooperates with the "Vereinigung von Freunden der Universität Stuttgart e. V." (Association of Friends of the University of Stuttgart e.V.). As a network for communication and service, alumnus offers a wide range of activities that promote the communication and the exchange of views between its members. That way, students can specifically get in touch with alumni and partners already while they are at university and these contacts can then later be turned into lifelong networks.

The term alumnus (m.) respectively alumna (f.) is derived from Latin and means "the nurtured". The Alumni Network uses the term "alumnae/alumni of the University of Stuttgart" for all students who are currently enrolled at the University of Stuttgart as well as for all its former students and for those people who are closely related to the University of Stuttgart. Members of the University of Stuttgart, sponsors and partners can also become members of the Alumni Network.

The idea of networking, which is at the root of alumnus, implies mutual support. With the help of the Alumni Network our members have the chance to take an active part in their alma mater – idealistically as well as financially. Such an involvement is voluntary but not required for a membership. Special sponsors of the University of Stuttgart are awarded with an honorary membership.

alumnus specifically supports the transfer of information and knowledge between the University of Stuttgart and various companies, organisations and institutions from the economy, science and society. Via its alumni network the university offers a professional and interdisciplinary platform for all of its students and graduates in order to maintain and cultivate valuable bonds between fellow students. And at the same time it gives members the chance to get in touch with top managers and opinion leaders, friends and sponsors. The key elements of the work of the Alumni Network's profile can be summarised with the terms networking, information, dialogue and support.
